Black fly remedies revisited

Living Large

Humour by Steve Galea

Spring has sprung and with this wonderful season comes the not-so-wonderful scourge of the north. But, for one moment, let's forget about tax time and talk about something far less annoying – black flies.

At least you can avoid black flies.

Old school remedies are many. Some folks swear by garlic. Some count on onions. Others count on citronella or eucalyptus oil, presumably because the latter attracts Koala bears, which would take your mind off of the black fly issue.

Here are 10 unproven ways that I have made up to minimize the effect of these little vermin during spring.

1. Avoid nudist colonies during the black fly season. We all know that one of the best ways to avoid black flies is to wear clothes that are tight around the collars, sleeves and hems. It follows then, that walking around butt naked is contrary to that. Plus, if the average age in your nudist colony is over 50, you might catch a break as the flies probably have a hard time flying with one wing over their eyes.
2. Keep those winter clothes out just a little longer. Sure, you might get a little warm walking around in your parka, toque and snowmobile suit in June but you can't have everything.
3. Hang out with nudists. Again, it only stands to reason that the black flies will gravitate towards the available targets. The trick is to convince nudists that it's not creepy for a fully clothed person to follow them around.
4. Avoid Mennonites. Don't get me wrong; they are fine people. But they will also be wearing far more clothes than you.
5. Wear a perfume made from crushed tofu. There is not a creature alive that honestly likes tofu and you can't convince me otherwise.
6. Learn to play a musical instrument. Again, no creature in the world wants to hang out with someone learning how to play a musical instrument.
7. Two words: Pet dragonflies. Perhaps I need to clarify. I don't mean you should pet a dragon fly; I mean you should make one your pet. Although, if you pet one nicely enough, you might form a friendship that could also pay off.
8. A dragonfly tattoo on your forehead. Admittedly, this is a little extreme but it just might put out the right message.
9. Hang out where the wind is strongest, which is basically the parking lot of any truck stop or man cave.
10. Wade a little deeper on the trout stream – but not past the top of your snorkel.

Two-day event remembers local soldiers

In the spring of 1916, over a thousand young men from across the Kawartha Lakes and Haliburton County answered the call to serve their King and country in the war to end all wars. Some were just teenagers, and would join area nursing sisters serving overseas to treat the wounded. Hundreds would die brutally in battles, never to come home again.

On the 13th and 14th of May, 2016, the Victoria County Historical Society, together with a number of community partners, presents Where Duty Leads: Waving Off The 109th, marking the 100th anniversary of when the 109th Battalion of Victoria and Haliburton Counties gathered in Lindsay before departing by train for war. A farewell concert in the Academy Theatre was enjoyed by citizens and soldiers alike, a big banquet organized for The 109th was consumed in a local hotel, and a parade along Kent Street was witnessed by thousands.

Where Duty Leads: Waving Off The 109th seeks to commemorate this important occasion in our community's history through a number of special events.

The weekend will begin with a Commemorative Dinner at the Victoria Park Armoury on Friday, May 13. Doors will open at 6 p.m., with dinner starting at 7 p.m. Based on the menu used for the Battalion banquet in 1916, the meal promises to be a one-of-a-kind occasion. Entertainment will be provided by Soldiers of Song, an energetic group of musicians and storytellers paying tribute to The Dumbells, who entertained Canadian soldiers at home and abroad during the First World War.

Tickets for the dinner cost $50 per person, and $100 for two tickets if purchased prior to April 15, after which they will cost $60 per person.

At 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 14, citizens are invited to gather in downtown Lindsay for a parade. Beginning beside Central Senior School, the parade will proceed east along Kent Street, and will conclude with a re-creation of the 1916 flag presentation in the former CN/CP rail yard on Queen Street, from which troops departed 100 years ago.

The parade will feature the Concert Band of Cobourg, the Lindsay Pipes & Drums, vintage vehicles, and local cadet corps and veterans.

Where Duty Leads: Waving Off The 109th will conclude on Saturday, May 14 at 7:30 p.m. with a magnificent farewell concert in the Academy Theatre featuring the Kawartha Male Chorus, the Meringer Big Band, area singers/musicians, and the talented drama students from I.E. Weldon Secondary School. Doors open at 6:15/6:30.

Tickets for the farwell concert cost $10 per person and proceeds will go towards the Academy Theatre Foundation.

Shelley Beach wins gold at spring show

Haliburton artist Shelley Beach was awarded the Toronto Watercolour Society's Gold Level of Distinction for being juried into 35 shows, and was awarded a gold medal for Juror's Choice for Best in Show for her painting "Journey to Dreamer's Rock" at the TWS's Aquavision Spring Show at the Neilson Park Creative Centre in Etobicoke.

Only 10 other artists have achieved the Gold Level of Distinction (and only four have achieved the Platinum Distinction for being juried into 50 or more shows), so this puts the artist into an elite group, as noted by TWS Awards chairwoman and director, Carolyne Pascoe.

This is the first time Beach has won a gold medal with the TWS. Her painting, "Journey to Dreamer's Rock" was inspired by Beach's trip last fall to Manitoulin Island. She also had another painting, "Shield Series 1" accepted into the TWS Aquavision Spring Show.

About 150 paintings were submitted, of which approximately 90 were accepted by the jurors – and only one is awarded the gold medal.

Beach said, "As a visual artist, I try to push my limits into the unknown. I love to experiment and be guided by my intuition. I enter quite a few juried exhibitions as a personal challenge. Putting my work up for judging against my accomplished peers sets me up for many disappointments as well as opportunities for success.

"I have worked pretty hard and one of my proudest moments was returning to art school as a mature student and graduating with honours," she added.

Pascoe said, "TWS has established the Gold Level of Distinction (along with Signature, Bronze, Silver and Platinum levels) to encourage artists to consistently enter juried shows over time. It is difficult to be accepted into juried shows because jurors look for a high level of technical competence, originality and creativity in selecting which pieces will be included.

To have been juried into 35 shows is truly an exceptional achievement, and winning the gold medal in this show is also exceptional – it's almost a once-in-a-lifetime experience and a major goal for many artists. "

In awarding the gold medal to "Journey to Dreamer's Rock," the jurors (Carol Westcott, an award-winning artist and Christina Kostoff, owner of the Yellow House Gallery, Toronto) noted "The subtle gradation and control of colour are outstanding. It's a fine composition, with simplicity in the use of line. Detail is added only where needed."

Shelley Beach lives full time on Kennisis Lake and the beauty of the Highlands is a constant source of inspiration for her. She has taught classes at Fleming College's Haliburton School of Art and Design for seven years, and is a well-known watercolour and acrylic instructor throughout the Durham Region.

She is an honour graduate of Ontario College of Art and Design (2004) and an elected member of the Society of Canadian Artists, as well as a signature member of TWS. Her paintings hang in numerous corporate and private collections. She is represented by the Ethel Curry Gallery in Haliburton.

The Toronto Watercolour Society (TWS) is a non-profit organization that began in 1985. It is dedicated to promoting the interests of painters in watercolour in Toronto.

It held its first annual Fall Juried Show in October 1984 and has mounted spring and fall juried shows each year since then. Membership is now more than 275 artists. TWS has earned a reputation throughout Ontario for its continued commitment to its mandate, the quality of its shows and exhibitions, the excellent work of its member artists, and its weekend workshops and guest lectures by knowledgeable professional artists. The Aquavision Spring Show runs from April 4 to 24 at Neilson Park Creative Centre, 56 Neilson Dr. in Etobicoke.

Beach's work can be viewed by appointment at her studio on Kennisis Lake (www.theshelleybeach.com) and she will be participating in the KLCOA's Art on the Dock studio tour on July 9 and 10.

The Bonnie View Inn

A good inn has a character of its own. It is influenced by the setting, the food, the decor and the history – but mostly by the people who run it.

Customers of The Bonnie View Inn are fortunate indeed. Nestled alongside the placid waters of Lake Kashagawigamog, its menu is superb, its decor relaxing and its history which dates back to 1924 is, in a word, delightful.

And all this is brought together by owner and Inn Keeper Andrea Hagarty. Energetic, creative, positive, friendly and adventurous, she brings these attitudes and more to the Inn she considers a labour of love.

Andrea took sole ownership of the Inn last November and looks forward to the season ahead.

The things that made the Bonnie View one of the top 25 Inns in Canada for overall value remain the same, but she's also excited to add personal touches that promise to make a stay even more special.

A new menu is in the works.

"I'm really excited about this," Andrea said. "It is going to have the same awesomeness our customers have come to expect."

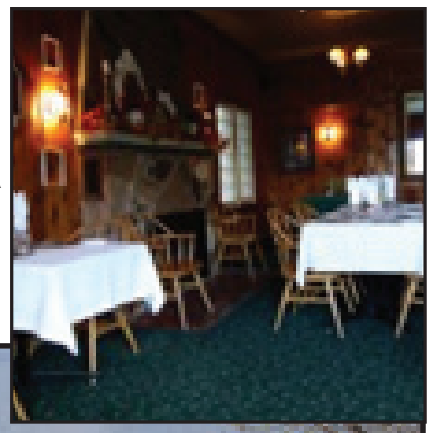
It is being created with Head Chef Mike Merritt, who has been part of the team since 2004. The kitchen is now is his capable hands.

Summer is always a great time at The Bonnie View and this year will be no different. The ever-popular Daisy's Dockside Patio opens on June 26 through to September 4. Guests and visitors can enjoy drinks and a meal there and, if the mood strikes, participate in adventure Bonnie View-style.

The Inn has partnered with Ski-mazing Water Sports so customers can experience the thrills of parasailing, wake boarding and other high-speed, adrenalin pumping fun. You don't have to be a guest either. Enjoy the water and stay for lunch.

The picturesque 75-acre resort also has a fantastic 300-foot beach. And when you need cooling off and a laugh or two, the waterslide and floating trampoline is there for you.

Prefer to expend your energy on dry land? There's volleyball, basketball, bocce or horseshoes or you can hike or bike the trails that transect the property.



The Inn is family friendly with plenty of activities for the kids, including fishing or participating in the Kid's Klub.

It's basically the same Bonnie View Inn you've come to know and love. Of course, it's not in Andrea's DNA to settle for the status quo. All this is to say, it's an exciting time to visit the Bonnie View again.

To find out more 1-800-461-0347 or 705-457-2350 or email bonnieview.inn @sympatico.ca. You can also visit http://www.bonnieviewinn.com/.

New book an homage to nature

By Jenn Watt

The natural world thrills Gordon Harrison. Its creatures and plants fill him with an excitement not just at their inherent beauty, but at the great scientific wonder they present.

Throughout his life, he has been wandering the woods of the Highlands, capturing photographs of the tiny devil's paintbrush wildflower and the hefty black bear, the white-bellied squirrel and the short-tailed weasel.

The very fact of the world's existence and the incredible power of natural selection and evolution fuels Harrison's curiosity and ultimately motivated him to write his latest book, My Cousin and Me and Other Animals.

"I've had a lifetime relationship with the land up there," says Harrison, who lives part time in Peterborough and part time in the Minden area. "And when you write any book, you have to have some fire in the belly. I love the land, I love the animals, I love the memories of the people I knew, all of whom are gone now. That's my motivation."

Harrison lived in the Minden area until about age five, when his family moved to Toronto to find work. Each summer during his childhood he would come back to stay with his cousin and his aunt and uncle, who had a property in the Highlands – the one he now owns.

As an adult, Harrison became a mathematics teacher, instructing in Toronto and Peterborough.

But no matter where he went, he always kept a foot in Haliburton County.

By way of explanation, he quotes naturalist and broadcaster David Attenborough: "It seems to me that the natural world is the greatest source of excitement; the greatest source of visual beauty; the greatest source of intellectual interest. It is the greatest source of so much in life that makes life worth living."

As his own homage to science and nature, My Cousin and Me takes readers on a journey through Harrison's interactions with nature, illustrated with photographs taken on his property through the years.

He tells touching stories about experiences he's had, peppering his tales with facts about wildlife, marvelling at adaptations provided by natural selection.

One such story is of a mother bear he calls "Mother Courage." Mother Courage was a black bear on his property that he discovered was paraplegic. She had two male cubs and Harrison was able to discern through use of a trail camera that she risked her own life for months on end to protect her cubs and ensure their survival.

"The cubs were always first by several minutes [to the food Harrison put out] until this heroic animal dragged her bleeding backside out of the deep forest only to collapse in exhaustion. On many occasions, she never ate – she just watched her cubs devour the cracked corn and dog food," he writes in the book.

"Clearly, this mother bear was exhibiting behaviour that can only be described as moral. And just as clearly, this behaviour was preserving her genes by enhancing the chance that her two male cubs would survive and reproduce," he writes.

Harrison says many people have misconceptions about nature, particularly the danger it presents.

"There is no fear walking in the forest. None whatsoever. It's the safest place you can be. It's safer than downtown Peterborough at night," he laughs. "As I say in the book, there have only been two verified cases in all of North American history of wolves killing people. Far more have lost their life from banana peels."

Besides My Cousin and Me, Harrison is the author of three other books, which he self-published. He says he didn't get into the writing business to make money. He does it to express love for nature.

"It's a celebration of the natural world," he says.

You can find Harrison's books on Amazon.com, at Chapters or other fine bookstores, which can order you a copy if they are not in stock. It is also available as an e-book. Minden Mercantile also has a few copies for sale.

You can read a chapter from the book at https://mycousinandme.net.

Home projects perfect for spring

While some projects are best left to the professionals, others can be tackled even by those homeowners with little or no DIY experience. The following are a handful of projects tailor-made for spring.

Inspect the gutters

Gutters tend to bear the brunt of harsh winter weather, and come spring gutters are in need of inspection if not repair. Winter winds, snow and heavy rainfall can compromise the effectiveness of gutters, which can easily accumulate debris and detach from homes during winter storms. In addition, gutters sometimes develop leaks over the winter months. As a result, homeowners should conduct a careful inspection of their gutters come the spring, being sure to look for leaks while clearing the gutters of debris and reattaching gutters that might have become detached from the home on windy winter days and nights. When reattaching loose gutters, make sure the downspouts are draining away from the foundation, as gutters that are not draining properly can cause damage to that foundation and possibly lead to flooding.

Take stock of roof shingles

Much like its gutters and downspouts, a home's roof can suffer significant damage over the course of a typical winter. Shingles may be lost to harsh winter winds and storms, so homeowners should examine the roof to determine if any shingles were lost (lost shingles might even be lying around the property) or suffered damage that's considerable enough to require replacement. Summer can be especially brutal on shingles, especially those that suffered significant damage during the winter. If left unchecked or unaddressed, problems with damaged shingles can quickly escalate into larger issues when spring rains and summer sun inevitably arrive, so homeowners should prioritize fixing or replacing damaged shingles as quickly as possible.

Check for freeze damage

Frozen temperatures can be hard on humans and homes alike, but unlike humans who can stay inside when temperatures dip below freezing, homes are forced to withstand the elements throughout the winter. External hose faucets are often susceptible to freeze damage. To inspect such faucets, turn the water on and then place a thumb or finger over the opening of the faucet. If your thumb or finger can completely stop the flow of water, the pipe where the water is coming from is likely damaged and will need to be replaced.

Each spring, homeowners should inspect their gutters to ensure the gutters are still attached to their homes and free of debris.

Examine the lawn for low spots

Once a lawn has thawed out, homeowners can patrol their properties looking for low spots in the yard or even low spots within spitting distance of the home's foundation. Such spots increase the likelihood of flooding. Flooding near a home's foundation increases the risk of potentially costly damage, while low spots on the lawn that go ignored can make great breeding grounds for insects, including mosquitoes, when the weather warms up. When low spots are detected, fill them in with compacted soil. Compacted soil can prevent spring rains from flooding a yard or damaging a home's foundation.

Assessing potential property damage is a rite of passage for homeowners in the spring. Though some damage is significant, oftentimes even novice DIYers can work their homes and properties back into shape in time to enjoy spring and summer.

Summer CampTeaches Kids Social Skills for Life

This "True Canadian" experience has proven benefits to the development of youth and first generations Canadians are starting to take notice to an experience that is internationally renown.

BY ANDREW MARTIN

Camp Can-Aqua Andrew Martin, Camp Director
canqua.ca • 613-339-2969 andrewmartin@canaqua.ca

Each summer, thousands of kids from countries all over the world arrive at Pearson International Airport and will begin what is sure to be one of the most exciting adventures of their young lives. They have travelled across the globe in search of what is considered one of the most beneficial opportunities for young people today… they are coming to camp.

The province of Ontario is known and respected worldwide for the quality and diversity of residential summer camp opportunities available to children. The benefits of outdoor education continue to have an incredible impact on the physical, mental, social and psychological development of a child. Parents are looking to camps to offer a unique, challenging and exciting experience for their children, one which is outdoors and 'unplugged' from an overwhelming electronic society.

At Camp Can-Aqua, near Bancroft, Ontario, we are very proud and supportive of the diversity at our camp. Campers from Spain, Germany, Norway, China, Korea and Australia have joined us in the past few summers. Diversity strengthens our camp community and continues to be an active goal at our summer camp. We are living, learning and creating in an environment that is a reflection of our world.

This Canadian Tradition is tried, tested and true. In recent years, the Ontario Camps Association has been working hard to educate new Canadian families of the benefits of this "Canadian Tradition". Many children growing up in Ontario have never swam in a lake or cooked on an open fire. These young people are missing out on what could be one of the most influential developmental experiences of their lives. Can-Aqua has been thrilled with the visible increase in the enrolment of first generation Canadians. At Can-Aqua we develop inclusive programs to ensure that all children have the opportunity to challenge themselves physically, creatively and intellectually everyday. We work to push our campers out of their comfort zones, to take safe risks and to challenge themselves to try new things. We teach compromise and cooperation, while underlining the importance of self-expression.

When thinking about offering opportunities to our children, we often look to travel outside of Canada, not realizing that for those who reside in the province of Ontario, some of the very best options are available close to home. Within the Ontario Camps Association are some of the best camps in the world and Can-Aqua is proud to be a recognized member. Summer camp is one of the most important experiences you can offer your child. Without a doubt, it is one "Canadian Tradition" every child should take part in.

Andrew Martin is the Owner/Director of Camp Can-Aqua, a summer residential camp near Bancroft, Ontario that welcomes up to 150 kids each session.

Home Again mama cats help each other

Duchess was a stray cat hanging around a home for a year, abandoned and pregnant. Home Again rescued her on the day she delivered her solo kitten, Prince. It is unusual to have a single kitten – an X-ray indicated no other kittens inside. But Duchess was ill and needed surgery. She cannot raise her kitten.

Pheobe was also hanging around a Bancroft home for a year when a Good Samaritan took her in at Christmas time. Pheobe had to join the Home Again waiting list of cats needing to be re-homed. She was rescued three weeks before she delivered her litter of three kittens, two stillborn. Baby Cat, a black female, was born to Pheobe April 12, the day after Prince was born to Duchess. Pheobe was asked to nurse and mother Prince. Home Again cat foster Karen Reid says, "Pheobe is a great mother to both kittens. She took in Prince without hesitation. She never leaves the nest except to do her business."

Pheobe with her own Baby Cat (black) as well as Prince (orange), who she adopted.

Fortunately for cats, Home Again has good fosters. But more are always required, for the unfolding drama that is Home Again, animal rescue. Call 613-474-3450 if you can foster cats or kittens. These four cats will be available for adoption at $90 each in about seven weeks. The mothers will be spayed and the kittens will go with a voucher for a free spay/neuter at Faraday Animal Hospital. Home Again believes in controlling the cat population in order to reduce unwanted pets.

Kitten Prince will be raised by a surrogate mother so that his mother can have surgery.

Prince, born April 11

Pheobe nursed Prince, whose mother was in surgery.
